Other Skills I have held a full, British driving licence since 1986. I am reasonably computer literate and have all the basic skills needed to develop web pages with javascript and DHTML interactivity.

Resent Work Experience

2000-2001 Teacher of English as a Second Language.
 English Club, Paris, France.

My duties have been to teach professional English to business people in new technologies such as telecommunications, television and internet.

1997-2000 Teacher of English as a Second Language.
 Centro de Lenguas e Intercambio Cultural, IH, Seville

My duties have included the basic training of teachers in the use of multi-media in language teaching. I have also given basic teacher training in the use of phonetics in the language class. I have taught: Business English, Legal English, Medical English and General English to all ages. I have received teacher development training every week.

Professional Interests

I am interested in writing educational and commercial web pages. Recently I have been working with teenagers and the internet. I am connected with an internet learning "think tank" based in Westminster University, exploring the quality of E-Learning sites available on the web today.

Objectives

I would like to continue my professional investigations and widen my web authoring experience. I want to develop the web development skills I have learned in recent years. I also want to continue to develop my knowledge of Graphic software.
