Teacher's Comment

Alex has made steady progress this term. Attendance and punctuality have been excellent, and homework is usually complete and on time.

In class, Alex listens carefully, joins activities willingly, and works well with classmates. Reading and listening are particular strengths; speaking and writing are developing with growing confidence.

Pronunciation is clearer than earlier in the year, and vocabulary is expanding through classroom topics. With continued practice at home, Alex is well placed for a strong next term.
